Return On Investment.

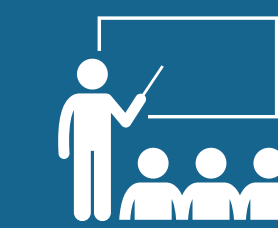

Transportation Cost

By leveraging Trinet's buying power. Companies can potentially reduce transportation costs by achieving better pricing, maximizing vehicle utilization, and minimizing empty or inefficient trips.

Administrative Overhead

The management company handles tasks such as carrier selection, contract management, freight auditing, and documentation. This reduces the administrative burden on the company's internal staff and saves their time to focus on more strategic activities.

Labor and Training Costs

Trinet takes care of recruiting, training, and managing the logistics personnel required to handle the operations.

Inventory Holding Costs

By reducing excess inventory and minimizing stockouts, companies can lower inventory holding costs.

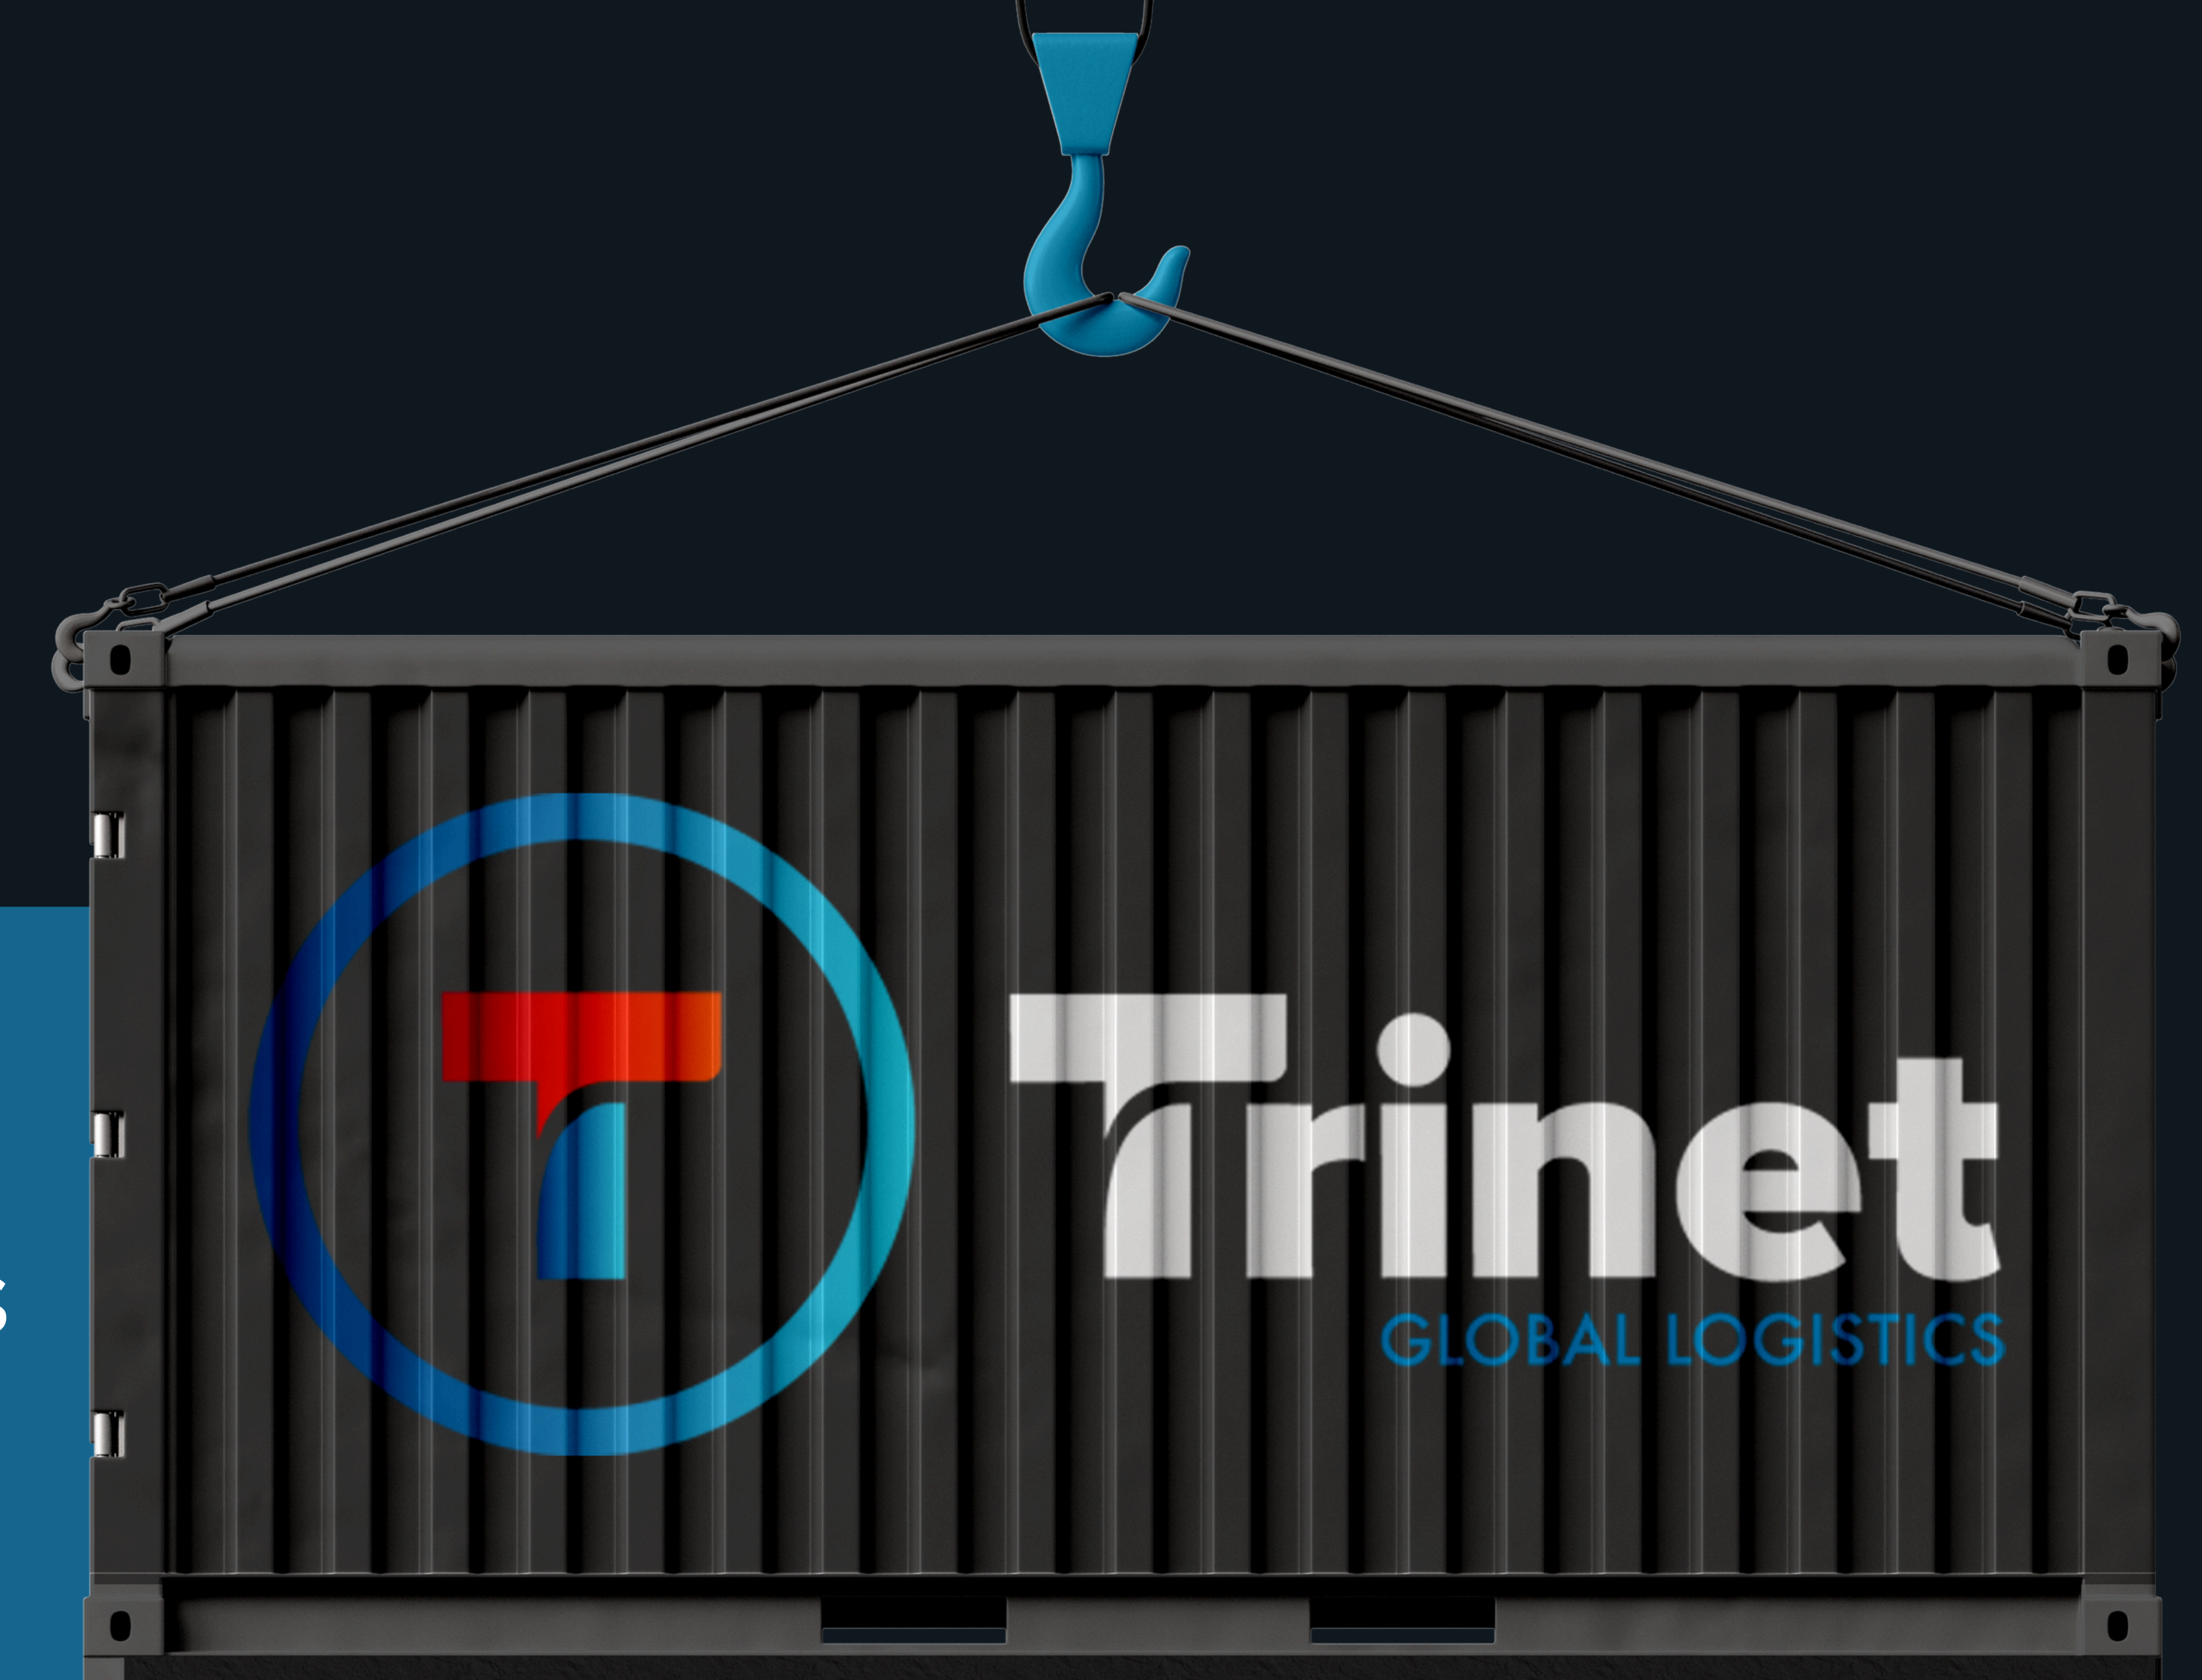

Warehouse Operations

Customers can leverage Trinet's warehouse facilities and expertise. This leads to significant cost savings in terms of leasing or owning warehouse space, labor expenses, equipment maintenance, and overhead costs associated with a devoted setup.

Technology Investments

By outsourcing, companies can avoid the upfront investment and ongoing maintenance costs associated with implementing and managing their own logistics technology infrastructure.

Implementation Phase.

This timeline guides clients through tailored demonstrations, training, and support, ensuring their seamless integration and satisfaction while maximizing the value they derive from the company's offerings.
